History at Bottesford C.E. Primary School

"I believe that the more you know about the past, the better you are prepared for the future." Theodore Roosevelt

At Bottesford C.E. Primary School, we work to provide children with a coherent knowledge and understanding of Britain's past and that of the wider world.

Intent:

- We aim to inspire children through well planned, sequenced and engaging history lessons.
- We want to promote a lifelong love of history where children can see its relevance and can make links with their own life and the lives of others.
- We want children to be curious and to seek to find answers to their questions regarding history.

Implementation:

We aim to deepen the history learning by making relevant cross-curricula links to English and other subjects, such as art, wherever possible. For example, whilst learning about the Anglo-Saxons children may produce 3D work in art by creating their own Anglo-Saxon hoard items. History lessons will focus on developing and building children's historical skills and knowledge with children working as historians. We want the children of Bottesford C.E. Primary School to have real life experiences and learn about history in a fun, active and creative way, enhanced by visits and visitors.

Impact: In doing so, we want children to retain the key knowledge in this subject and be able to apply it to their current and future learning.
